

Directory of
INTERNATIONAL SALES AGENTS

INTRODUCTION

This directory of international feature film sales agents provides a snapshot of companies representing Australian films around the world.

Included within are details of each seller's acquisition policy, which markets they attend, at what stage they prefer to be approached and whether they pay advances. There's also a list of the Australian films that agents have handled.

The directory was compiled through contact with sellers and information derived from Screen Australia's market reports, forums and other activities since 2012.

This directory of sales agents is in no way a recommendation or endorsement from Screen Australia. Producers should ask around before signing up with an agent to be sure they have found the right sales partner and to check previous business dealings have gone smoothly for all parties before proceeding with any deals. When appointing a sales agent, producers of commercially attractive titles are encouraged to negotiate for beneficial terms.

Screen Australia regularly updates this directory following key markets.

TOP TIPS FOR PRODUCERS

In December 2014, the sales agents in this directory were canvassed for their top tips for producers. Here's what they had to say:

- Be social. Attend networking events, functions, co-production markets and producer labs to get to know the international sales agents before you formally request meetings. At social events, don't go into hard pitch mode. Just try to make a good impression.
- Know your audience. For every film, you should have a good understanding of your target audience. This should inform every step of your development and marketing from inception to exhibition, including your pitch and pitch materials.
- Ensure your project is ready to finance before arranging meetings. Sales agents cannot evaluate projects if they are pitched too early. Make sure your package is in its best shape before introducing it to sales agents. A market-ready and developed script, director, producer, realistic potential cast, budget, viable finance plan, timeline, target audience and hook should all be settled before you set up meetings.
- Have a water-tight finance plan. Sales agents need to know that the business points make sense before evaluating creative so make sure your budget is fully prepared and you have a clearly presented finance plan. Understand your finance plan especially in terms of realistic Gap vs Sales Agent Minimum Guarantee requests. If you're unsure seek advice from more experienced industry professionals.
- Be a market expert. Research companies before you set up meetings – check the trades from previous markets, find out their latest acquisitions and sales activity, and also watch their movies. Contact other producers who have had films with the sales agents for advice and feedback on their experiences.
- Know what you want from the meeting. Establish what you are looking for before you set up the meeting and be clear about the next steps for each party before leaving the meeting.
- Set up meetings well in advance. Reach out two or three weeks prior to major markets to set up meetings with sales agents that suit your film.
- Show interest in their company. When you meet the sales agents display interest in their company and knowledge of their slate and recent activities. Be able to explain why that sales agent is right for your film and vice versa.
- Limit the number of projects you pitch per meeting. Prioritise the project that best fits the sales agent – pitch only one or two projects from your slate.
- The elevator pitch works! Be succinct, you don't need to explain every scene. With a good catch line and short synopsis you can grab attention and entice the agent into reading the script. Know what is distinctive about your film. This could be the concept, story, cast, director – your sales agent needs to see how and why the film will find its target audience.
- Be on point when pitching. If you have a great pitch reel, lead with that. Bring printed materials with strong visuals that display an understanding of your audience. Bring a pitch summary with short synopsis, cast and crew, and finance information. If you're a first-time feature making team, award-winning short films will help boost the sales agent's confidence in your abilities. Create a standout first impression of your team's work through high-quality materials – remember you are competing on an international scale in a crowded market.
- Be passionate! It is infectious.
- When citing comparable titles, be realistic and clear. Are you citing the comps as commercially successful examples or for creative reasons? Have an idea of the commercial success of those films. If citing as an example of the returns your film might achieve, are the film budgets and level of cast and director a fair comparison? When talking about potential cast, be realistic.
- Be open to feedback and contribution. If the sales agent has creative or business suggestions: be open to them. They should feel like it will be their movie too if they become involved.
- Strike while the iron is hot. Be timely and considerate with your follow up after the meeting. Don't let weeks go by without contact. Polite persistence is appreciated as are updates on developments on cast, finance and other attachments of note. If you can, call instead of emailing, it is more personable. It takes time to commit and contract the deal so be aware and ahead of your deadlines. If your situation changes and you find better synergy with another sales agent, inform those you have met and advise your reasons so lines of communication are left open for future collaborations.
